DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Brownawell et al. (EP-0252606).

Brownawell discloses a process for increasing the cetane number of a middle distillate fraction by contacting the fraction with oxygen in the presence of a catalyst comprising a metal of Group VIII (e.g., cobalt) and a support to produce an effluent stream having an oxygen content incorporated therein. Brownawell also teaches that the effluent stream comprises the claimed amount of oxygen content. (See abstract; page 5, lines 9-29; Tables, VII-X)

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

Art Unit: 1764

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 3-34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over by Brownawell et al. (EP-0252606) in view of Galuszka (US 5,637,259)

Brownawell does not disclose that the support comprises magnesium oxide or calcium oxides, does not specifically disclose the amount of Group VIII metal, and does not disclose the effluent stream TAN number is less than about 2 mg KOH/g.

Galuszka teaches an oxidation catalyst comprising a support comprising either magnesium oxide or calcium oxide. (See col. 3, lines 26-40)

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified the process of Brownawell by using either magnesium oxide or calcium oxide as suggested by Galuszka because Brownawell teaches that any suitable support can be used in the process.

Art Unit: 1764

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified the process of Brownawell by using the claimed amount of cobalt because it is within the level of one of skill in the art to use any effective amount of cobalt including the claimed amount with the expectation that any amount of cobalt would give similar results.

Since the modified process of Brownawell is similar to the claimed process in terms of feedstock and catalyst, it would be expected that the effluent stream from the modified process of Brownawell would have the TAN number as claimed.
